

The Sherlock Holmes
Coronavirus Survival Guide

Keep your distance.

Avoid close contact.

Watson, you must stay 1.5 meters away from others... that's roughly 10 pipe lengths.

Practice social distancing.

Wash your hands.

They look clean to me
Holmes. Soap and water for 20 seconds does the trick.

Cough or sneeze into your elbow...

AHHHH...CHOOOO!
Darn. It's back to the dry cleaners for this coat!

Yes, but you've stopped the spread of any germs.
Well done Holmes!

...or use a tissue
and dispose of it
in a bin.

Symptoms:

include fever, sore throat, cough, tiredness, shortness of breath.

If you suffer these then contact your doctor for assessment.

I'm glad you checked Holmes. But I think you're just exhausted from binge watching "Friends".

Masks:

Wear a mask if you are diagnosed with or are suspected of having coronavirus.

Err, Watson. Aren't we meant to wear the masks over our mouths?

Self Isolation:

If you are unwell or been in contact with a potential Covid-19 case you may have to self isolate for 14 days.

At last. An excuse to stay home and just think!

Stay at home:

This does not need to be a hardship.
Take it as an opportunity.

Learn an instrument.

Catch up on some reading.

Discover a new hobby such as bug collecting.

Stay healthy.

That's it! Reach as high as you can and then give me 50 sit ups.

Everything in moderation.

He's dead alright.
Dead drunk! Obviously he thought drinking a carton of Corona would make him immune.

Don't panic buy.

No need to hoard items.

There is plenty of food and essential items for all.

So that's where you've been hiding all the toilet paper! I knew I would get to the bottom of this.

Keep calm.

We are all in this together.

Gentlemen, gentlemen...
No need to fight... I have more sanitizer under the counter!

Stay informed.

More struck down with Covid-19. This is one case I would rather not have.

We will overcome.

Scientists are working world-wide to enable us to deal with this virus.

Are you getting closer to a vaccine, Holmes?

No Watson, but I'm perfecting my Cranberry Gin Fizz cocktail.

These are strange days.

Remember when the
shops used to be open Watson?

...but together we can beat this thing.

COVID-19
COVID-19
COVID-19

"...and a cleaner, better, stronger land will lie in the sunshine when the storm has cleared."*

Dinner at Simpsons then a night at the theatre. I'm glad that Covid-19 matter is behind us.

Indeed, Watson. But it did remind us that in life "the little things are infinitely the most important."**

*Sir Arthur Conan Doyle
His Last Bow

**Sir Arthur Conan Doyle
A Case of Identity

Thanks to the works of Sidney Paget.